No Increase in the Regular Rate for Paid Months to Offset the Expense of the Two Months Free.

This offer of Dr. Copeland's of two months' medicines and treatment free goes away below the surface and leaves no room for evasion now or at any future time. We shall probably hear no more of indefinite offers of free months, lead ing patients to suppose that these months are at the beginning of the course, and it is unlikely that any scheme to offset the apparent liberality of free months by charging higher rates for the paid months will ever meet with even a moderate de-gree of success. The object lesson which Dr. Copeland has taught in this wonderful proposition has been not only startling, but it has been crough and complete. The revelation afforded to the public is not confined to the time at which month for paid months. An offer of mo arge fee for the paid months. Dr. Copeland offer goes below even that subterfuge. He has not increased the price of paid months. The $3.00 rate remains, and every patient applying at the Copeland offices knows just what he will be called mouth for medicines and treatment is all that is ever asked. Dr. Copeland makes no effort to re-cover the loss occasioned by this wonderful propo-sition by drawing upon his patients for the pay for apparent liberality Every patient who comes to the Copeland offices knows that he will be asked $3.00 for medicines and treatment for the first free.
